COMMITTEE WILL CONFER WITH BIGELOW ON ROADS

Will Consult Commissioner on First Roads to be Built

TO PRESENT REQUESTS

All Sections Represented and Most Important Routes Will be Recommended

In connection with the proposed construction of the State Highways throughout Washington county, a committee had been appointed from various sections to consult with State Highways Commissioner E. M. Bigelow relative to the roads that should be constructed first, and which are the most practicable in connecting the various districts with the county and with one another as designated by the new Highways bill of which Governor Tener is the sponsor. The committee is composed of Kerfoot W. Ly, Charleroi; J. A. Herron, Monongahela; O. C. Parkinson, Old Connelley; D. M. Campsey, Claysville; M. Hemphill, West Middletown; E. Donald, McDonald; W. H. Richards, nonsburg; George Chaney and J. Eagleson, Washington. O. K. Taylor of Washington, one of the State Highway engineers appointed by Mr. Bigelow, is also on the committee.

It is understood that this committee will work together in the interests of their respective communities, and recommend and agree upon routes which benefit the largest of territory and the most people. Mr. Daly stated that he will recommend the early construction of routes 247 from Monongahela to Charleroi, route 118 from Speers by Vanceville to Washington and route 268 from Speers up the river Millsboro. Mr. Herron, is understood, will recommend the early construction of route 247 from Monongahela to Finleyville and the construction of route 181 from Monongahela to Washington along the old Hampshire pike.

Working together in harmony the committee hopes to get the most important routes constructed first at the earliest possible time. An act will also be made, it is stated, to get another committeeman on from Charleroi, and get a new route acceptable from that town along the river to Charleroi.

Product for Use in Canal

Pittsburg Steel Company Manufactures Material for Big Ditch

The Page Woven Wire Fence company at Monessen is turning out a big order for the United States government for use on the concrete work of the big locks and dams. The entire shipment will be about 18 carloads, but about three carloads have already been forwarded. Such is the rush at the Page mill that the employees are getting in about all the overtime they care to work. The product the mill is turning out for the Government is to be used for reinforcing concrete work.

TROUBLES OF BEING A BOROUGH

North Belle Vernon Has Town Plotted but Refuses Plot

NEW ENGINEER HIRED

North Belle Vernon has been worrying along with various kinds of engineers about long enough, according to a decision reached by the council of that thriving municipality, Friday night. The borough was lately surveyed and plotted but it is claimed the job wasn't properly done and as a consequence the borough refuses to pay for the work.

Trimble and Miller, of Pittsburg is the firm which did the work and which will be turned down when they present their demand for pay. J. B. Hogg of Connelleville, consulting engineer was consulted and discovered glaring faults it is stated in the Pittsburg firm's work.

Now Hogg has been engaged to do the work. There is a proposition that may be acted upon to secure pay for the new engineer. That is that the bond of $1,000 placed by Trimble & Miller for satisfactory performance of their duties be used. But the borough hasn't got the money yet and there is doubt that the Pittsburg firm will allow it to be forfeited without protest.

Wants Bond Issue. Monessen electors are discussing the proposed bond issue which they will vote on at the general election, November 7. The proposed issue is for $130,000 of which $65,000 is wanted to liquidate a floating debt and the remainder is wanted for street paving and the construction of a viaduct over Third street on Reed avenue.

SENSATIONAL FIGHT IS EXPECTED IN DISTRICT

Youths Not Now in Jail

Washington Lads Charged with Burglary Secure Temporary Freedom

Following the arrest last Wednesday at Washington of James R. Dudley, Eugen Wheeler and Joseph Carter, prominent young men, charged with committing 19 burglaries at 12 Washington business establishments during the last four months, Carter has been released from jail under $1,000 bond, pending a hearing. Wheeler, who is too ill to be removed from the hospital, has made no effort to secure bond, although he is technically under arrest. Young Dudley has not been placed in jail, although under arrest. Attorney H. F. Moore, young Dudley's father, Justice Henry Gantz and District Attorney Acheson had a long conference yesterday afternoon.

DONORA TO GET SERVICE

Will Have Free Delivery After the First of November

IN IMPROVED SECTION

Thorough preparations are being made at the Donora postoffice for the inauguration on November 1st of free delivery service to all patrons of the office within the district laid out by the post office inspector, provided the patrons have complied with the department requirements in regard to providing receptacles for their mail.

Competitive examinations for carriers were held and from the eligible list of carriers Postmaster Koehler has made his nominations and sent them to the postoffice department.

Carriers' supplies and equipment have been received from the department, but the corner mail boxes will not be placed until after delivery service is in operation. Seventeen public mail boxes will be placed at convenient points along the routes of the carriers, after the work of delivery is familiar to the new men.

The service will be inaugurated on McKean, Meldon, Thompson, Murray, Prospect and Waddell avenues, and on Fifth and Eighth streets. The service will not extend the entire length of these streets, but only the sections which are improved. Donora people petitioned the government some time ago for free delivery service.

Michael Halapy May Oppose President Francis Feehan

GIBBONS BACK TO MINES

Insurgent Officials Retire From Activity in Opposing Present Leaders

In a letter addressed to the officers and members of district No. 5, United Mine Workers of America Robert Gibbons of Cecil and his fellow officers state that they have retired from the leadership of the insurgents and soon will return to work in the mines. They have relinquished their claims as being officers in the district in order, they say, that there may be harmony in the ranks.

They state, also that they have signed an agreement to accept the board's decision as final and binding. They advise the local unions and members everywhere to accept this decision in the same spirit, feeling confident that time and future circumstances will fully vindicate their course.

Contrary to expectations, Francis Feehan is likely to again have opposition for district president at the next election. Already nominations are being made in the various locals for district officers and it is stated that Michael Halapy, editor of the United Mine Worker's Journal, the official organ of the organization, published at Indianapolis, has been nominated for district president. Mr. Halapy is formerly from this district, and became editor of the Journal in the regime of International President White who succeeded President Lewis.

It was thought by President Feehan's friends that inasmuch as the international executive board had exonerated him from the charges made by the insurgents that he would as a vindication be unanimously renominated and re-elected president of the district. Mr. Feehan's course throughout the controversy that resulted from the last election has been consistent and dignified and he has had the support of the great majority of miners throughout the district.

WILL HOLD RALLY AT MONONGAHELA CHURCH

In Sabbath school in League, and in regular service he will be heard, and his story is one of thrilling interest. BOARD OF TRADE PLANS BIG TIME

Monessen Business Men Will Hear Talks on Important Questions

The Monessen Board of Trade has arranged some special features for their next meeting, which will be held Friday evening October 20. Harry Yont, prothonotary of Greensburg, will be there to talk on the subject of naturalization. W. R. Williams, secretary of the Greensburg Board of Trade, will also be present and speak upon the necessity of civic organizations in a community.

It is stated that since the board of trade was organized at Monessen there has not been a teamster in town who has lent a hand to help get improved roads. They seem to be well satisfied to pull their horses through the mud. Mr. Williams will tell them how to save horse flesh and at the same time show them how easy the work is done with good roads as an asset. The meeting promises to be one full of interest.

GREAT RUSH TO RESERVE SEATS

All But Few Seats Are Taken on First Night of Reservations

On the first night for the reservation of seats for the Charleroi Citizen's Entertainment course, nearly the entire house was "sold out." Out of the 360 available seats at School Hall there were about 340 reserved. It is thought that there are still several tickets out, so that chairs and standing room promises to be at a premium before long. The committee having the matter of securing the attractions in charge was careful to select only the best. Nevertheless it is the best that pays, a fact evidenced by the big demand for seats. Alton Packard, cartoonist, will be the first to appear on the course. He will be here next Wednesday night.

HOPEFUL SIGNS.

There is encouragement in statements of the trade papers of the country which gives special attention to industrial affairs, particularly iron and steel, and which report that it is their belief, that "the bottom has been reached" and that the trend of business will be upward from the present. The Uniontown Standard. They do not expect a quick uplift of prices and business, but a steady, continuous rise until we reach the plane of normal business conditions. They take a hopeful view.

The Iron Age for this week says: "While the policy of keeping stocks at a minimum, by which consumers have been throwing all the chances of the market upon the mills is unchanged, there are further evidences that the cheapness of steel is producing business. The railroads have been influenced by it to some extent, though it is evident that purchases which they have long been classing as optional have at least become imperative."

"Car orders has increased. The Missouri Pacific has bought 2,400 and is expected to buy more. The New York Central has bought 1,000 and is in the market for 2,000. The Pennsylvania is preparing another inquiry and the Baltimore & Ohio is figuring on 5,000 to 6,000, the need of which has for some time been apparent to shippers. The New York Central's contract for 40 locomotives is a welcome break in the dullness in that line."

"It appears, too, that the low level reached for plates and shaps has started some figuring on lake boats, in spite of the forbidding outlook for vessel owners. Capital is attracted by building enterprises also when fabricating companies are able to offer their product at $38. Open hearth bars are sold low enough to compete with hard bars for concrete reinforcement, and the cuts in shaftings have been deep enough to induce some contract business."

A STREET MARKET.

The action of Washington business people in agitating for a market house should be investigated by the Charleroi Business Men's Association. While perhaps a market house just at this particular time is not practicable for Charleroi, the time was never more propitious for the introduction of a street market, which is so successfully carried out in large towns and cities located in rich farming districts.

Nothing will add more to the progress and prosperity of Charleroi than the development of the farming and gardening opportunities that exist right at our very doors. All kinds of produce is expensive in Charleroi for the reason that but a comparatively small portion of the supply is produced near at hand. There is every opportunity for the development of a first class farming and gardening community in the vicinity where the market and home demand is unsurpassed and with an abundance of land that is now idle might become highly productive. Charleroi can help to promote this by providing a place in town where farmers can drive in and sell their products from the streets on certain days instead of peddling from house to house. It is worthy of investigation at least.

A man who always laughs uproariously when he tells jokes usually wears a pained expression when anyone delivers any supposed funniness to him.

Friday, the 13th had no terrors for some. On the contrary it was mighty lucky in some cases.

The next question to be decided is: Will the California women vote or just talk?

When we get this recall in Pennsylvania we can have all kinds of elections at any old time.

Well, the primary election put some money in circulation if it didn't do anything else.

It's the highbrows who meet, have a dinner and talk over civic reforms, but it's the roughnecks who go to the polls, hustle their vote out and capture the offices.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

"I'll never forget any of the stirring incidents occurring during one trip I took to New York city," said A. H. Bosson, a popular foreman at Macbeth-Evans Glass plant now absent on a trip to the American metropolis. "I went from Pittsburgh as a cornetist with the 14th Regiment band on that occasion of the dedication of Grant's Monument several years ago."

"Of course the members of the band were members of the regiment and were treated as such. New York was crowded. There were representatives there from every nation. From the masts of battleships in the immense harbor flags representing practically every nation in the world waved forth their greetings."

"The first day we arrived we got a sight of these wonderful battleships. The two bands—the 14th and the 18th Regiment bands—and the members of the two regiments were lined up to march down the East River where the battleships were lying on a tour of inspection, more than anything else."

"A guide was hired. He was carefully instructed by our commanding officer to designate the nation represented by each ship as we passed. The bands were to play the national airs of each. All went well and we received a great ovation from the native folk who rejoiced to hear their beloved airs on a strange shore.

"But that night and the next day I remember in particular. We were to turn out at 5 o'clock in the evening. A man by the name of Seybold and I decided we wouldn't be needed for a while, and took a stroll through the city. While up town I thought of a friend in a suburb that I hadn't seen for years. Seybold and I decided we would visit him and report back to the barracks a little later and right there is where our fun began.

"We wore uniforms that strangely resembled those worn by the members of the New York police department. Crossing the river we framed up a little surprise on our friend, and we arrived at the door of his home and his wife responded to our knock, caps pulled down over our eyes."

"Seybold in all the glory of his six feet loomed up behind me and we created a decided sensation."

"Is this where Mr. R. resides?" I demanded in a gruff voice.

"Yes sir," she feebly replied.

"We want to see him."

"He's here. John"—brokenly.

"John came to the door."

"Is this Mr. R.?"

"Yes," and he turned pale.

"We have a warrant for your arrest."

"A warrant for my!—there it is Mary."

"Then I was unable to hold back and laughed and he knew me. I never received such a greeting in my life. He was tickled all over for he had actually been expecting arrest for having assaulted a neighbor whom he had undertaken to teach a little humanity by an original method."

"We remained with R. until 1 o'clock, then returned to the barracks. The sentry in all the dignity of his position couldn't be breached apparently and it looked as though Seybold and I were in for it. Finally Seybold got close and began whispering. It is wonderful what a little whispering will do sometimes. We were admitted."

"An hour and a half later we were called out. I was too tired to eat any breakfast, even with the prospect of getting no dinner before me. Then began an all day march. That's what makes the occasion seem so vivid to me. Never did I suffer as I did that day. Never was I so dead tired. I thought I would faint before I could get to a place to sleep, but I held out. I never tried an experiment of the kind after that to fool my friends, let me promise you."

"Whatever may be his political derelictions—if he has any—Senator Crow of Fayette county is a mighty good fellow," said John D. Berryman the other day, when Fayette county politics was the subject of discussion. "I knew Senator Crow at California, when the latter was editing the weekly paper there—now the Sentinel—and studying law. 'Billy,' as we called him then was ambitious to become admitted to the Fayette county bar, and had been studying and preparing for some time. One day he went up to Uniontown to take the examinations before the committee for admission and his assistant, after he was prepared an article for the paper which was just going to press, stating how W. E. Crow, editor of the paper, had gone to Uniontown to take the law examinations, and had passed with flying colors."

"That evening 'Billy' returned to California and some one who met him coming from the station said:

"I saw in the paper where you passed the examinations at Uniontown, Billy. It gave you a nice send-off. Allow me to congratulate you."

ODD WAYS OF THE COMMONS

Illustrated by the Imminent Peril of Mr. Pearce. Who Read Newspaper During Session.

A member of the British parliament remarks in London Opinion that the rules of the house of commons are past all understanding, and then proceeds to cite the case of Mr. Pearce, M. P., and the imminent danger in which he one day appeared to be. This was when the sergeant-at-arms, with his terrible sword in hand, rose from his chair and rushed with cyclonic speed in the direction of the mild, meek and altogether unconscious-offense member. It was quickly made clear what was the cause of this hasty charge by the sergeant. Mr. Pearce had actually been reading a newspaper, and there is no more heinous offense known to parliament. The members when in the chamber are not permitted to read newspapers for any purpose not immediately connected with the debate actually in progress, though one may succeed in doing it surreptitiously by folding the newspaper small and concealing it behind the order paper of the day, much like a boy may nibble at an apple in school, concealing the pipkin behind his spelling book. Yet more gross breaches of parliamentary etiquette and decorum may be seen, members even wearing their hats when a fellow member is addressing the house, and even the dearest friends of an orator may go to sleep while he is delivering his choicest periods.

TO RELIEVE THE HICCOUGHS

Sucking Ice or Taking Salt and Vinegar Often Will Cure Simple Cases.

Simple cases of hiccough are often relieved by such measures as sucking ice or taking salt and vinegar. Pulling the tongue forward and holding it for some time is an effective procedure.

Sometimes obstinate hiccough is relieved when the patient is strong by having him hang with the arms extended and grasping some beam or pole, so that his feet do not touch the floor. With all the abdominal muscles tense, have him hold his breath as long as possible.

The spelling "hiccough" is recent, being a combination of the syllables "hic" and the latter term of "cough," which is without either physiological or etymological basis; the pronunciation, with perhaps the rarest exception, is still that of the older form "hiccup," earlier given variously—as "hickup," "hickupsnickup," "hickop," "hickcock," "hickcock" and "hickett," with quasi-diminishing suffixes ack, etc.; but the "hick," a syllable aptly expressive of the spasmodic sound produced by the conditions giving rise to the particular disturbance, is found in all references to the origin of the term which the writer has been able to obtain. The term singultus is rarely used.—New York Medical Journal.

Life of the Grapevine.

There are some who contend that the life of the grapevine is longer than that of the oak. It is rare that a wild grapevine is found that has died of old age. Pliny mentions a vine 600 years old. There is a vine at Hampton Court, England, planted in 1769, while here in America there is a wild grapevine on the shores of Mobile Bay, within a mile of Daphne, Ala., commonly known as the "General Jackson" vine, more than 6 feet in circumference at its base. There is a grapevine in Carpinteria, Cal., under which more than eight hundred persons may stand. Its trunk is eight feet in diameter at the base and it has borne as high as ten tons of fruit. It is said that this vine was planted in 1842.

HINTS TO THE HANDICAPPED

Writer in Atlantic Monthly Tells Them How They May Make Best of Life.

Grow up as fast as you can. Cultivate the widest interest you can, and cherish all your friends. Cultivate some artistic talent, for you will find it the most durable of satisfactions, and perhaps one of the surest means of livelihood as well. Achievement is, of course, on the knees of the gods; but you will at least have the thrill of trial, and, after all, not to try is to fail. Taking your disabilities for granted, and assuming constantly that they are being taken for granted, make your social intercourse as broad and as constant as possible. Do not take the world too seriously, nor let too many social conventions oppress you. Keep sweet your sense of humor, and above all do not let any morbid feelings of inferiority creep into your soul. You will find yourself sensitive enough to the sympathy of others, and if you do not find persons who like you and are willing to meet you more than half way, it will be because you have let your disability narrow your vision and shrink up your soul. It will be really your own fault, and not that of your circumstances. In a word, keep looking outward; look out eagerly for those things that interest you, for persons who will interest you and be friends with you, for new interests and for opportunities to express yourself.—Atlantic Monthly.

CANNIBALS WHO CHEW GUM

Traveler Finds the Seris Kindly and Affectionate and Quite Without Deadly Weapons.

Though it seems rather a pity to shatter romantic illusions and myths in a world from which romance (of that kind, anyway) is fading rapidly, yet it must be said that there are only two old, useless rifles in the hands of the tribe, and at the time of our visit only two bows and a couple of quivers full of arrows, none of one of which was headed. And now they haven't those, for we bought them for souvenirs.

Among themselves, at any rate, however they may have behaved to strangers in the past, the Seris were as kindly and even affectionate a lot of people as I have ever had the good fortune to encounter. Never did we see a mother or father slap a child. Never was anger displayed or irritation. They were continually sharing with each other the little gifts we made them. Really, you know, when you see a group of alleged cannibals sharing chewing-gum (the first they had ever tasted) from mouth to mouth and enjoying themselves hugely, respect for travelers' tales of blood and thunder goes down a peg or two.—Michael Williams in Outing.

Among the Theatres

THE PALACE—CHARLEROI.

"The Borrowed Dress" was the subject of a touching human interest photoplay at the Palace Theatre this week. A model in one of the fashionable modiste's establishments is invited by the young man with whom she keeps company to attend a club ball, but has no gown fit to wear. At the display rooms of the modiste that afternoon the model tries on a swell gown for the benefit of a customer, who makes the purchase. The model who has a fine figure, looks particularly well in the gown and she covets it for the ball. As the customer wants the gown delivered the model offers to leave it on her way home. Instead of delivering the gown that evening she wears it to the ball, and accidentally tears it while dancing. Repairing the rent she leaves the gown at the customer's next morning, who of course discovers the damage and brings it back to the modiste. The deception is discovered, and the modiste sends for a policeman to arrest the model. The customer, however, generously waives damages in the girl's favor, who is re-instated. The Weekly Pathe Bulletin was of unusual interest this week and there were many other big features. Miss Helen Atwill's solos are still a leading attraction, one of which was that old but ever beautiful ballad, "Annie Laurie."

THE STAR—CHARLEROI.

"The Pony Express," "In the Days of Nero," "Baby's Rattle," "The Way of the World," "When the Law Came," "The Haunted House," were some of the titles of the photoplays which delighted audiences at the Star Theatre this week. History, romance and human interest were depicted in the various subjects, that made the presentations particularly instructive and entertaining. Manager Tom Cowan gets the best and latest, and serves a bran new program each day at both the afternoon and evening performances. Three reels of new films are shown every day, which are the best products of the leading film makers of the world and the subjects cover every quarter of the globe.

THE GRAND—PITTSBURG.

Covering a world-wide field of the best in high class entertainment the bill arranged for the Grand, week of October 16, is one that will appeal strongly to the theatregoing public. The headliner is the famous operatic star, Helena Frederick, who, with her brilliant company, will appear in a condensed version of Mascagni's masterpiece, "Cavalleria Rusticana," in which she has scored the most distinctive hit of her long and successful career. Miss Frederick's supporting company includes the famous Italian tenor, Sig. Antonio Paoletti, a pupil of the celebrated tenor, Alessandro Bonci. Minnie Seligman and William Bramwell, will be seen in Gerald Villiers Stuart's powerful play, "The Drums of Doom."

One of the most unique and striking novelties of the season will be "The Old Soldier Fiddlers," comprised of battle-scarred veterans of the war, who play the old-fashioned tune, some so old that they are new. The four veterans are just "fiddlers." Early practice on a corn-stalk fiddle of such classics as "Money Musk," "Old Black Joe," "Arkansas Traveler," "Dixie," "Pop Goes the Weasel," "Captain Jinks of the Horse Marines," and the "Mocking Bird" from the nucleus of their present skill.

Occupying a prominent spot on the program are the Three White Kuhns, Fagan and Bryon, the ever popular vaudeville favorites, will introduce a new and attractive specialty. Wilbur Mack and Nella Walker will be seen in their latest musical conceit, "The Dollar Bill." Frel Duprez, the merry monologist, and other well known entertainers, together with the latest moving pictures, will round out an entertaining and widely diversified performance.

THE ALVIN—PITTSBURG.

After playing in New York City for over a year and a half in his new play by Augustus Thomas, "As a Man Thinks," John Mason will fill a local engagement at the Alvin Theatre next week. With Mr. Mason will come his entire Thirty-ninth Street Theatre players, the precisely original company that was seen with the distinguished star during his remarkable metropolitan season. Augustus Thomas wrote "As a Man Thinks" especially for John Mason and the character of the gentle old Doctor Seelig in the new play is said to fit the magnetic genius and odd personal traits of Mr. Mason better than any other stage character type he has interpreted.

"As a Man Thinks" is in four acts, these depicting scenes associated with New York's smartest social set, but all centered about the love life of two young sweethearts, sweetly influenced by the mysterious sympathetic power of an old family physician, Dr. Seelig (Mr. Mason). Chrystal Herne, the beautiful daughter of the famous actor-author James Herne, who wrote "Hearts of Oak" and "Shore Acres," is in Mr. Mason's company, and other popular players of the supporting cast include Charlotte Ives, Eleanore Marette, Vincent Serrano, Walter Hale, George Gaston and John Flood.

TALES OF THE TELEPHONE

Its Exploitation in England Seemed Impossible Until Queen Victoria Became Interested.

The United States has eight telephones for every hundred of population, while no other country has half as many. Following the establishment on a solid basis of the American telephone system work for European exploitation was early begun. The results were hardly encouraging.

Five-eighths of the British rights were purchased for $500 by a Providence man, says the National Magazine. After working in London four months he could not find any one who would put a shilling in the telephone. An English review said of it: "The telephone is little better than a toy. It amuses the English, but is inferior to the well established system of air tubes."

The victory was won at last by Kate Field, who sang "Kathleen Maureen" over the telephone to Queen Victoria. The queen was delighted, asked Bell if she might buy two telephones, and it was not long before all England was interested. An exchange with ten wires was opened in London, and in April, 1879, Theodore Vall sent an order to the factory in Boston in his terse, characteristic way: "Please make 100 hand telephones for export trade as early as possible."

Banks Guarded by Soldiers.

Like the Bank of England, the Bank of France is now guarded every night by soldiers, who do sentry duty outside the building, a watch being kept on its side its precincts. But within a recent time the officials at the French bank resorted to a very novel method of protecting their bullion. This consisted in engaging masons to wall up the doors of the vaults in the cellar with hydraulic mortar as soon as the money was deposited each day in these receptacles. The water was then turned on and kept running until the whole cellar was flooded. A burglar would be obliged to work in a diving suit and break down a cement wall before he could even begin to plunder the vaults. When the bank officials arrived next morning the water was drawn off, the masonry torn down and the vaults opened. Curiously enough, within a few months after this obsolete manner of protecting the bank's cash was done away with, burglars did actually get into the vaults and decamp with about $45,000 in gold coin.—Strand Magazine.

YOUNG UNTIL THIRTY-FIVE

From That Time On Unmarried Women Are "Old Maids," Says Boston Y. W. C. A.

When does a woman cease to be young? Woman herself, for reasons that require no elaboration here, declines, as a rule, to fix the period. Masculine authorities, for the most part, are chary of venturing upon such dangerous ground. Hence the question has ever been involved in uncertainty and it would perhaps remain so were it not that a responsible authority—none other than the Young Woman's Christian association, the title of which indicates its competency—comes to the front with a decision which may fairly be accepted as conclusive. It is to the Boston branch of the association that the world is indebted for the solution of the problem. The occasion for solving it arose from the completion of a new home for the young women of the association in the Massachusetts city. In framing rules for this establishment, it was found necessary to specify precisely the limit of young womanhood, beyond which the benefits of the home could not be enjoyed. This has been fixed at 35 years. Up to that age a young woman comes within the meaning of the title as understood by the association and may enjoy the advantages of membership and reside in the home. On reaching her thirty-fifth birthday she must resign her quarters. On that fatal day her young womanhood ceases and the "old maid" label is placed upon her indelibly and irrevocably. Thus the matter is settled beyond further cavil or dispute.—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

DID MOSES MAKE MISTAKE?

First Chapter of Genesis Conforms in Many Instances With Late Discoveries in Science.

We have often heard "the mistakes of Moses" in the first chapter of Genesis commented upon, but what especially strikes us in that chapter is not its contraventions of science, but its harmonies with late discoveries. How did the writer, many centuries before the story of the rocks had been deciphered, know that there was a beginning and then a pause before life appeared on the earth? Who taught the writer that the earth was "without form and void" before it was divided into continents? How came it that the long delayed, slow emergence of land should be set forth as it was? Was it mere guesswork that prompted the writer to say grasses were created before animals, and not for animals already existent? Is it a happy accident that life in the water appears before life upon the land? And ages before the scientist dreamed of paleontology we find man last in the series just as he appears today by his remains in the drift instead of in the stratified rocks? Further investigation may explain discrepancies, but what except inspiration can account for these coincidences?—The Advance.

Swiss English.

Swiss English always seems designed to round off the scenery with the touch of humor. For years the best in the writer's collection has been an inscription by a path leading to a waterfall near Melringen, which explained that a toll was necessary for "the fondation and untainting" of that path. Until last month, however, there was nothing quite equal to the Strasburg cathedral notice: "Express interdiction to circulate during divine service. Beadle have to preserve order." But Switzerland has at least tied with Germany now in the collection. In a certain Oberland valley, too unspoiled yet to be given away by name, there is a series of gates which bear a short request in Oberland German to the wayfarer to close them. And twice it is translated into English "Shut up!"—London Chronicle.

TO AILING WOMEN

A Little Sound Advice Will Help Many a Sufferer in Charleroi.

No woman can be healthy and well if the kidneys are sick. Poisons that pass off in the secretions when the kidneys are well, are retained in the body when the kidneys are sick. Kidneys and bladder become inflamed and swollen and worse troubles quickly follow. This is often the true cause of bearing down pains, lameness, backache, etc. Uric poisoning also causes headaches, dizzy spells, languor, nervousness and rheumatic pain.

When suffering so, try Doan's Kidney Pills, a remedy that has cured thousands of such cases. You will get better as the kidneys get better and health will return when the kidneys are well. Let a Charleroi woman tell you about Doan's Kidney Pills.

Mrs. H. Rowe, 1005 McKean avenue, Charleroi, Pa., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Piper Bros.' Drug Store, have been used in our family for backache and other kidney disorders with the best of results. I consider this remedy to be one that lives up to the claims made for it."

Warm Floors Insure the Children's Health

Cole's Hot Blast Drak on top of the fire burns the coal from the top—burns the gas, which is wasted with all other stoves. The force of this down draft forces the heat to the base which is made of steel—cannot burn out—and heats the floor. Thousands of testimonials have been written regarding the base heating qualities of

Cole's Original Hot Blast Heater

The ideal heating stove is one which radiates all the heat thrown off from the fuel—into the room—instead of letting it go up the chimney. The durable heater is the one which will withstand all adverse use, year after year, which a heating stove is necessarily subjected to. Sheet steel is the quickest radiator of heat and is used as radiating surface only in Cole's Hot Blast heater. Wherever the fuel comes in contact with the lining—only first quality gray cast iron is used. Cast iron withstands the wear of the heat from active combustion better than any other material, and the large, sensitive, sheet metal body and base radiate all the heat into the room. POPULAR YOUNG PEOPLE WED THIS WEEK AT DONORA

Miss Lucia Cardon Smith Becomes Bride of Thomas H. Robinson

LEAVE ON HONEY MOON

The Donora American of Friday gives the following account of the wedding of Miss Lucia C. Smith and Thomas H. Robinson, Jr., which took place at Donora on Wednesday. Miss Smith, who is a niece of Mrs. W. W. Jameson of Fifth street, was formerly a resident of Charleroi, and has a wide circle of friends here who extend good wishes for future happiness.

The home of Mrs. Grace Cardon Smith of Donora was the scene of a very pretty wedding at eleven o'clock Wednesday morning, when her daughter Miss Lucia C. Smith and Thomas Holmes Robinson Jr., were married. The Rev. J. Walter Shearer of the Trinity Lutheran church of Donora performed the ceremony, with only the relatives present.

The wedding march—from Lohengrin, was played by Mr. Robert McKay Jamison, a cousin of the bride.

The bride handsomely attired in her brown traveling gown, wore violets and roses, was given away by her uncle Mr. Frank Cardon. Cresson E. Smith a brother of the bride was best man.

The decorations in the living room where the ceremony took place consisted of candelabra ferns, and palms with standards of white chrysanthemums and roses.

Promptly after the ceremony and shower of congratulations a delicious wedding breakfast was served. The table arrangement was beautiful. A large bouquet of rich yellow chrysanthemums surrounded by a wreath of maiden hair fern formed the center piece of the table at which the bride and groom were seated. Covers were laid for eleven. A separate table was occupied by Master Cresson E. Smith Jr., and his little sister Grace, a nephew and a niece of the bride.

A unique feature, while participating in the wedding breakfast, was the receipt of a gorgeous bouquet of American Beauty roses, grown in the great conservatory at the White House, a gift of the groom's cousin from Washington, D. C. Attached to the bouquet was a sheet of sheep skin addressed to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Holmes Robinson Jr. This was the first time the happy bride ever saw her new name in print.

The guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Cresson E. Smith and their two children Cresson E., Jr. and Grace of McKeesport; Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Jamison and son Robert McKay Jamison and Mrs. Sophia DeVinney all of Charleroi and Mr. Frank Cardon of Donora.

The bride and groom accompanied by Mr. Frank Cardon, were driven in an automobile to the Lake Erie depot from which point the happy couple left on the 1:00 p. m. train for a three weeks honeymoon, during which time they will visit Pittsburgh, Baltimore, Washington, Richmond and the groom's home in Virginia. At home days in Donora will be after November first.

The groom is one of Donora's most successful druggists and the bride is a favorite among the social set of Donora. Their host of friends extend congratulations and best wishes for a happy matrimonial venture.

Jewish Celebration.

Another Jewish holiday—Children's Day—will begin today at sundown. The ceremony is the Rejoicing of the Law. In commemoration thereof the children will carry scrolls in procession. This ceremony is a part of the Feast of Tabernacles, which began at sundown Friday and lasts one week. The eighth, or added day, of this feast known as the day of prayer, is the same as the Thanksgiving Day in the United States.

Want Market House.

A movement is on foot at Washington to establish a market house. The county seat is in the midst of a rich farming community, and many of the leading citizens believe that if a place is provided for farmers to drive in to town and sell their farm products it will not only materially reduce the cost of living but will stimulate other trade and business as well.

Lifting Fire Hose by Elevators.

The latest idea for raising water for fire-extinguishing purposes to the uppermost floors of tall buildings is to lift the hose by means of the passenger or freight elevators. A simple attachment is provided for affixing the hose to the floor of the elevator, the pipe being coiled up in the bottom of the shaft so as to be easily raised.

In a recent demonstration at Memphis, Tenn., says Popular Mechanics, it was said that the water arrived at the sixth floor of a building practically as soon as the floor was reached by the elevator, and the fire chief of that city recommended the compulsory adoption of the device by all buildings provided with elevators. The hose is inserted in the attachment about two sections behind the discharge nozzle, these sections being coiled on the elevator floor.

We Want to See You.... We'll Treat You Rightly

We know you don't like to be pulled and hauled all over the store, passed through the gauntlet of clerks and finally turned over to the proprietor simply because you don't find what you want, and you don't want some little whippersnapper of a clerk to insist upon your taking what you don't want. You have, doubtlessly been through this ordeal, and vowed that you would never go into that store again. You're right—you don't have to.

Shoes should stand on their merits and a first-class shoe house always has a large enough assortment for a customer to be suited without having something forced on him which he forever dislikes. Come our way. If we cannot possibly suit you we will treat you kindly just the same. One thing certain—if you can't find anything to suit you in our store, you can't find it in Charleroi. And, furthermore, if you don't find that our prices are right, don't spend a cent with us. Fair proposition hey?

In connection with the proposed construction of the State Highways throughout Washington county, a committee had been appointed from various sections to consult with State Highway Commissioner E. M. It is understood that this committee will work together in the interests of their respective communities and recommend and agree upon routes which benefit the largest of territory and the most people. Mr. Daly stated that he will recommend the early construction of roads 247 from Monongahela to Charleroi, route 118 from Speers by Vanceville to Washington and route 268 from Speers up the river hillsboro. Mr. Herron, is understood, will recommend the early construction of route 247 from Monongahela to Finleyville and the construction of route 181 from Monongahela to Washington along the old transport pike.

Working together in harmony the committee hopes to get the most important routes constructed first at the earliest possible time. As it will also be made, it is stated, that another committeeman on from Charleroi, and get a new route accepted from that town along river to Charleroi.

The entire shipment will be about 18 car loads, but about three carloads have already been forwarded. Such is the rush at the Page mill that the employees are getting in about all the overtime they care to work. The product the mill is turning out for the Government is to be used for reinforcing concrete work.

TROUBLES OF BEING A BOROUGH

North Belle Vernon Has Town Plotted but Refuses Plot

NEW ENGINEER HIRED

North Belle Vernon has been worrying along with various kinds of engineers about long enough, according to a decision reached by the council of that thriving municipality, Friday night. The borough was lately surveyed and plotted but it is claimed the job wasn't properly done and as a consequence the borough refuses to pay for the work.

Trimble and Miller, of Pittsburg is the firm which did the work and which will be turned down when they present their demand for pay. J. B. Hogg of Conestoga, consulting engineer was consulted and discovered glaring faults it is stated in the Pittsburg firm's work.

Now Hogg has been engaged to do the work. There is a proposition that may be acted upon to secure pay for the new engineer. That is that the bond of $1,000 placed by Trimble & Miller for satisfactory performance of their duties be used. But the borough hasn't got the money yet and there is doubt that the Pittsburg firm will allow it to be forfeited without protest.

Wants Bond Issue. Monessen electors are discussing the proposed bond issue which they will vote on at the general election November 7. The proposed issue is for $180,000 of which $65,000 is wanted to liquidate a floating debt and the remainder is wanted for street paving and the construction of a viaduct over Third street on Reed avenue.

BOARD OF TRADE PLANS BIG TIME

Monessen Business Men Will Hear Talks on Important Questions

The Monessen Board of Trade has arranged some special features for their next meeting, which will be held Friday evening October 20. Harry Yont, prothonotary of Greensburg, will be there to talk on the subject of naturalization. W. R. Williams, secretary of the Greensburg Board of Trade, will also be present and speak upon the necessity of civic organizations in a community.

It is stated that since the board of trade was organized at Monessen there has not been a teamster in town who has lent a hand to help get improved roads. They seem to be satisfied to pull their horses through the mud. Mr. Williams will tell them how to save horse flesh and at the same time show them how easy the work is done with good roads as an asset. The meeting promises to be one full of interest.

GREAT RUSH TO RESERVE SEATS

All But Few Seats Are Taken on First Night of Reservations

On the first night for the reservation of seats for the Charleroi Citizen's Entertainment course, nearly the entire house was "sold out." Out of the 360 available seats at School Hall there were about 340 reserved. It is thought that there are still several tickets out, so that chairs and standing room promises to be at a premium before long. The committee having the matter of securing the attractions in charge was careful to select only the best. Nevertheless it is the best that pays, a fact evidenced by the big demand for seats.

Alvin Farkard, cartoonist, will be the first to appear on the course. He will be here next Wednesday night.

Michael Halapy May Oppose President Francis Feehan

GIBBONS BACK TO MINES

Insurgent Officials Retire From Activity in Opposing Present Leaders

In a letter addressed to the officers and members of district No. 5, United Mine Workers of America Robert Gibbons of Cecil and his fellow officers state that they have retired from the leadership of the insurgents and soon will return to work in the mines. They have relinquished their claims as being officers in the district in order, they say, that there may be harmony in the ranks.

They state, also that they have signed an agreement to accept the board's decision as final and binding. They advise the local unions and members everywhere to accept this decision in the same spirit, feeling confident that time and future circumstances will fully vindicate their course.

Contrary to expectations, Francis Feehan is likely to again have opposition for district president at the next election. Already nominations are being made in the various locals for district officers and it is stated that Michael Halapy, editor of the United Mine Worker's Journal, the official organ of the organization, published at Indianapolis, has been nominated for district president. Mr. Halapy is formerly from this district, and became editor of the Journal in the regime of International President White who succeeded President Lewis.

It was thought by President Feehan's friends that inasmuch as the international executive board had exonerated him from the charges made by the insurgents that he would as a vindication be unanimously renominated and reelected president of the district. Mr. Feehan's course throughout the controversy that resulted from the last election has been consistent and dignified and he has had the support of the great majority of miners throughout the district.

HOPEFUL SIGNS.

There is encouragement in statements of the trade papers of the country which give special attention to industrial affairs, particularly iron and steel, and which report that it is their belief, that "the bottom has been reached" and that the trend of business will be upward from the present, says the Uniontown Standard. They do not expect a quick uplift of prices and business, but a steady, continuous rise until we reach the plane of normal business conditions. They take a hopeful view.

The Iron Age for this week says: "While the policy of keeping stocks at a minimum, by which consumers have been throwing all the chances of the market upon the mills, is unchanged, there are further evidences that the cheapness of steel is producing business. The railroads have been influenced by it to some extent, though it is evident that purchases which they have long been classing as optional have at least become imperative.

"Car orders has increased. The Missouri Pacific has bought 2,400 and is expected to buy more. The New York Central has bought 1,000 and is in the market for 2,000. The Pennsylvania is preparing another inquiry and the Baltimore & Ohio is figuring on 5,000 to 6,000, the need of which has for some time been apparent to shippers. The New York Central's contract for 40 locomotives is a welcome break in the dullness in that line.

"It appears, too, that the low level reached for plates and shapes has started some figuring on lake boats, in spite of the forbidding outlook for vessel owners. Capital is attracted by building enterprises also when fabricating companies are able to offer their product at $38. Open health bars are sold low enough to compete with hard bars for concrete reinforcement, and the cuts in shaftings have been deep enough to induce some contract business."

A STREET MARKET.

The action of Washington business people in agitating for a market house should be investigated by the Charleroi Business Men's Association. While perhaps a market-house just at this particular time is not practicable for Charleroi, the time was never more propitious for the introduction of a street market, which is so successfully carried out in large towns and cities located in rich farming districts.

Nothing will add more to the progress and prosperity of Charleroi than the development of the farming and gardening opportunities that exist right at our very doors. All kinds of produce is expensive in Charleroi for the reason that but a comparatively small portion of the supply is produced near at hand. There is every opportunity for the development of a first class farming and gardening community in the vicinity, where the market and home demand is unsurpassed and with an abundance of land that is now idle might become highly productive. Charleroi can help to promote this by providing a place in town where farmers can drive in and sell their products from the streets on certain days instead of peddling from house to house.

The world's series to the hardworking man means simply harder work and more of it as a rule.

The question of whether it is right or whether it is not right to fight the trusts is one in which the politicians feel themselves the only ones qualified to judge.

The time when men will do their own thinking still seems afar off.

A man who always laughs uproariously when he tells jokes usually wears a pained expression when anyone delivers any supposed funniness to him.

Friday, the 13th had no terrors for some. On the contrary it was mighty lucky in some cases.

The next question to be decided is: Will the California women vote or just talk?

When we get this recall in Pennsylvania we can have all kinds of elections at any old time.

Well, the primary election put some money in circulation if it didn't do anything else.

It's the highbrows who meet, have a dinner and talk over civic reforms, but it's the roughnecks who go to the polls, hustle their vote out and capture the offices.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

"I'll never forget any of the stirring incidents occurring during one trip I took to New York city," said A. H. Bosson, a popular foreman at Macbeth-Evans Glass plant now absent on a trip to the American metropolis. "I went from Pittsburgh as a cornetist with the 14th Regiment band on that occasion of the dedication of Grant's Monument several years ago.

"Of course the members of the band were members of the regiment and were treated as such. New York was crowded. There were representatives there from every nation. From the masts of battleships in the immense harbor flags representing practically every nation in the world waved forth their greetings. "The first day we arrived we got a sight of these wonderful battleships. The two bands—the 14th and the 18th Regiment bands—and the members of the two regiments were lined up to march down the East River where the battleships were lying on a tour of inspection, more than anything else.

"A guide was hired. He was carefully protected by our commanding officer to designate the nation represented by each ship as we passed. The bands were to play the national airs of each. All went well and we received a great ovation from the native folk who rejoiced to hear their beloved airs on a strange shore.

"But that night and the next day I remember in particular. We were to turn out at 5 o'clock in the evening. A man by the name of Seybold and I decided we wouldn't be needed for a while, and took a stroll through the city. While up town I thought of a friend in a suburb that I hadn't seen for years. Seybold and I decided we would visit him and report back to the barracks a little later and right there is where our fun began.

"We wore uniforms that strangely resembled those worn by the members of the New York police department. Crossing the river we framed up a little surprise on our friend and we arrived at the door of his home and his wife responded to our knock, caps pulled down over our eyes. "Seybold in all the glory of his six feet loomed up behind me and we created a decided sensation.

"Is this where Mr. R. resides?" I demanded in a gruff voice.

"Yes sir," she feebly replied.

"We want to see him."

"He's here. John"—brokenly.

"John came to the door.

"Is this Mr. R.?"

"Yes," and he turned pale.

"We have a warrant for your arrest."

"A warrant for my?—there it is, Mary."

"Then I was unable to hold back and laughed and he knew me. I never received such a greeting in my life. He was tickled all over for he had actually been expecting arrest for having assaulted a neighbor whom he had undertaken to teach a little humanity by an original method.

"We remained with R. until 1 o'clock, then returned to the barracks. The sentry in all the dignity of his position couldn't be broached apparently and it looked as though Seybold and I were in for it. Finally Seybold got close and began whispering. It is wonderful what a little whispering will do sometimes. We were admitted.

"An hour and a half later we were called out. I was too tired to eat any breakfast, even with the prospect of getting no dinner before me. Then began an all day march. That's what makes the occasion seem so vivid to me. Never did I suffer as I did that day. Never was I so dead tired. I thought I would faint before I could get to a place to sleep, but I held out. I never tried an experiment of the kind after that to fool my friends, let me promise you."

"Whatever may be his political derelictions—if he has any—Senator Crow of Fayette county is a mighty good fellow," said John D. Berryman the other day, when Fayette county politics was the subject of discussion. "I knew Senator Crow at California, when the latter was editing the weekly paper there—now the Sentinel—and studying law. 'Billy,' as we called him then was ambitious to become admitted to the Fayette county bar, and had been studying and preparing for some time. One day he went up to Uniontown to take the examinations before the committee for admission and his assistant, after he went prepared an article for the paper which was just going to press, stating how W. E. Crow, editor of the paper, had gone to Uniontown to take the law examinations, and had passed with flying colors.

"That evening 'Billy' returned to California and some one who met him coming from the station said:

"I saw in the paper where you passed the examinations at Uniontown, Billy. It gave you a nice send-off. Allow me to congratulate you."

Physical culture and skin specialists are urging women to walk more if they would preserve the youthful lines of their figures and keep their skins young.

The Red Cross is the perfect walking shoe. It is every bit as comfortable after a long walk, as it is when you start out. And it is as stylish a shoe as you could possibly wish for.

"Thank you," returned Billy, "but the devil of it is, I didn't pass." "That, of course was the Senator's first attempt. Now, as every one knows, he is one of the leading attorneys of the Fayette county bar, as well as the head of Fayette county politics."

ODD WAYS OF THE COMMONS

Illustrated by the Imminent Peril of Mr. Pearce, Who Read Newspaper During Session.

A member of the British parliament remarks in London Opinion that the rules of the house of commons are past all understanding, and then proceeds to cite the case of Mr. Pearce, M. P. and the imminent danger in which he one day appeared to be. This was when the sergeant-at-arms, with his terrible sword in hand, rose from his chair and rushed with cyclonic speed in the direction of the mild meek and altogether unconscious of offense member. It was quickly made clear what was the cause of this hasty charge by the sergeant. Mr. Pearce had actually been reading a newspaper, and there is no more heinous offense than that. The members when in the chamber are not permitted to read newspapers for any purpose not immediately connected with the debate actually in progress, though one may succeed in doing it surreptitiously by folding the newspaper small and concealing it behind the order paper of the day, much like a boy may nibble at an apple in school, concealing the pippin behind his spelling book. Yet more gross breaches of parliamentary etiquette and decorum may be seen, members even wearing their hats when a fellow member is addressing the house, and even the dearest friends of an orator may go to sleep while he is delivering his choicest periods.

TO RELIEVE THE HICCOUGHS

Sucking Ice or Taking Salt and Vinegar Often Will Cure Simple Cases.

Simple cases of hiccough are often relieved by such measures as sucking ice or taking salt and vinegar. Pulling the tongue forward and holding it for some time is an effective procedure.

Sometimes obstinate hiccough is relieved when the patient is strong by having him hang with the arms extended and grasping some beam of pole, so that his feet do not touch the floor. With all the abdominal muscles tense, have him hold his breath as long as possible.

The spelling "hiccough" is recent, being a combination of the syllables "hic" and the latter term of "cough," which is without either physiological or etymological basis; the pronunciation, with perhaps the rarest exception, is still that of the older form "hiccup," earlier given variously—as "hiccup," "hicknupsickup," "hiccup," "hickcock," "hickcock" and "hickett," with quaint diminutives suffices ack, etc.; but the "hick," a syllable aptly expressive of the spasmodic sound produced by the conditions giving rise to the particular disturbance, is found in all references to the origin of the term which the writer has been able to obtain. The term singultus is rarely used.—New York Medical Journal.

Life of the Grapevine.

There are some who contend that the life of the grapevine is longer than that of the oak. It is rare that a wild grapevine is found that has died of old age. Pliny mentions a vine 600 years old. There is a vine at Hampton Court, England, planted in 1769, while here in America there is a wild grapevine on the shores of Mobile Bay, within a mile of Daphne, Ala. commonly known as the "General Jackson" vine, more than 6 feet in circumference at its base. There is a grapevine in Carpinteria, Cal., under which more than eight hundred persons may stand. Its trunk is eight feet in diameter at the base and it has borne as high as ten tons of fruit. It is said that this vine was planted in 1842.

HINTS TO THE HANDICAPPED

Writer in Atlantic Monthly Tells Them How They May Make Best of Life.

Grow up as fast as you can. Cultivate the widest interest you can and cherish all your friends. Cultivate some artistic talent for you will find it the most durable of satisfactions, and perhaps one of the surest means of livelihood as well. Achievement is, of course on the knees of the gods; but you will at least have the thrill of trial, and after all, not to try is to fail. Taking your disabilities for granted, and assuming constantly that they are being taken for granted, is no constant as possible. Do not take the world too seriously, nor let too many social conventions oppress you. Keep sweet your sense of humor, and above all do not let any morbid feelings of inferiority creep into your soul. You will find yourself sensitive enough to the sympathy of others and if you do not find persons who like you and are willing to meet you more than half way, it will be because you have let your disability narrow your vision and shrink up your soul. It will be really your own fault, and not that of your circumstances. In a word keep looking outward, look out eagerly for those things that interest you, for persons who will interest you and be friends with you, for new interests and for opportunities to express yourself.—Atlantic Monthly.

CANNIBALS WHO CHEW GUM

Traveler Finds the Sems Kindly and Affectionate and Quite Without Deadly Weapons

Though it seems rather a pity to shatter romantic illusions and myths in a world from which romance (of that kind, anyway) is being rapidly, yet it must be said that there are only two old, useless rifles in the hands of the tribe, and at the time of our visit only two bows and a couple of quivers full of arrows, not one of which was headed. And now they haven't those, for we bought them for souvenirs.

Among themselves, at any rate, however they may have behaved to strangers in the past, the Sems were as kindly and even affectionate a lot of people as I have ever had the good fortune to encounter. Never did we see a mother or father slap a child. Never was anger displayed or irritation. They were continually sharing with each other the little gifts we made them. Really, you know, when you see a group of alleged cannibals sharing chewing-gum (the first they had ever tasted) from mouth to mouth and enjoying themselves hugely, respect for travelers' tales of blood and thunder goes down a peg or two.—Michael Williams in Outlook.

Among the Theatres

THE PALACE—CHARLEROI.

"The Borrowed Dress" was the subject of a touching human interest photoplay at the Palace Theatre this week. A model in one of the fashionable modiste's establishments is invited by the young man with whom she keeps company to attend a club ball, but has no gown fit to wear. At the display rooms of the modiste that afternoon the model tries on a swell gown for the benefit of a customer, who makes the purchase. The model who has a fine figure, looks particularly well in the gown and she covets it for the ball. As the customer wants the gown delivered the model offers to leave it on her way home. Instead of delivering the gown that evening she wears it to the ball, and accidentally tears it while dancing. Repairing the rent she leaves the gown at the customer's next morning, who of course discovers the damage and brings it back to the modiste. The deception is discovered, and the modiste sends for a policeman to arrest the model. The customer, however, generously waives damages in the girl's favor, who is re-instated. The Weekly Pathe Bulletin was of unusual interest this week and there were many other big features. Miss Helen Atwill's solos are still a leading attraction, one of which was that old but ever beautiful ballad, "Annie Laurie."

THE STAR—CHARLEROI.

"The Pony Express," "In the Days of Nero," "Baby's Rattle," "The Way of the World," "When the Law Came," "The Haunted House," were some of the titles of the photoplays which delighted audiences at the Star Theatre this week. History, romance and human interest were depicted in the various subjects, that made the presentations particularly instructive and entertaining. Manager Tom Cowan gets the best and latest, and serves a bran new program each day at both the afternoon and evening performances. Three reels of new films are shown every day, which are the best products of the leading film makers of the world and the subjects cover every quarter of the globe.

TALES OF THE TELEPHONE

Its Exploitation in England Seemed Impossible Until Queen Victoria Became Interested.

The United States has eight telephones for every hundred of population, while no other country has half as many. Following the establishment on a solid basis of the American telephone system work for European exploitation was early begun. The results were hardly encouraging.

Five-eighths of the British rights were purchased for $500 by a Providence man, says the National Magazine. After working in London four months he could not find any one who would put a shilling in the telephone.

An English review said of it: "The telephone is little better than a toy. It amuses the English, but is inferior to the well established system of air tubes."

The victory was won at last by Kate Field, who sang "Kathleen Mavourneen" over the telephone to Queen Victoria. The queen was delighted, asked Bell if she might buy two telephones, and it was not long before all England was interested. An exchange with ten wires was opened in London, and in April, 1879, Theodore Vall sent an order to the factory in Boston in his terse, characteristic way: "Please make 100 hand telephones for export trade as early as possible."

Banks Guarded by Soldiers.

Like the Bank of England, the Bank of France is now guarded every night by soldiers, who do sentry duty outside the building, a watch being kept inside its precincts. But within a recent time the officials at the French bank resorted to a very novel method of protecting their bulion. This consisted in engaging masons to wall up the doors of the vaults in the cellar with hydraulic mortar as soon as the money was deposited each day in these receptacles. The water was then turned on and kept running until the whole cellar was flooded. A burglar would be obliged to work in a diving suit and break down a cement wall before he could even begin to plunder the vaults. When the bank officials arrived next morning the water was drawn off, the masonry torn down and the vaults opened. Curiously enough, within a few months after this obsolete manner of protecting the bank's cash was done away with, burglars did actually get into the vaults and decamp with about $45,000 in gold coin.—Strand Magazine.

YOUNG UNTIL THIRTY-FIVE

From That Time On Unmarried Women Are "Old Maids," Says Boston Y. W. C. A.

When does a woman cease to be young? Woman herself, for reasons that require no elaboration here, declines, as a rule, to fix the period. Masculine authorities, for the most part, are chary of venturing upon such dangerous ground. Hence the question has ever been involved in uncertainty and it would perhaps remain so were it not that a responsible authority—none other than the Young Woman's Christian association, the title of which indicates its competency—comes to the front with a decision which may fairly be accepted as conclusive. It is to the Boston branch of the association that the world is indebted for the solution of the problem. The occasion for solving it arose from the completion of a new home for the young women of the association in the Massachusetts city. In framing rules for this establishment, it was found necessary to specify precisely the limit of young womanhood, beyond which the benefits of the home could not be enjoyed. This has been fixed at 35 years. Up to that age a young woman comes within the meaning of the title as understood by the association and may enjoy the advantages of membership and residence in the home. On reaching her thirty-fifth birthday she must resign her quarters. On that fatal day her young womanhood ceases and the "old maid" label is placed upon her indelibly and irrevocably. Thus the matter is settled beyond further cavil or dispute.—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

DID MOSES MAKE MISTAKE?

First Chapter of Genesis Conforms in Many Instances With Late Discoveries in Science.

We have often heard "the mistakes of Moses" in the first chapter of Genesis commented upon, but what especially strikes us in that chapter is not its contraventions of science, but its harmonies with late discoveries. How did the writer, many centuries before the story of the rocks had been deciphered, know that there was a beginning and then a pause before life appeared on the earth? Who taught the writer that the earth was "without form and void" before it was divided into continents? How came it that the long delayed, slow emergence of land should be set forth as it is? Was it mere guesswork that prompted the writer to say grasses were created before animals, and not for animals already existent? Is it a happy accident that life in the water appears before life upon the land? And ages before the scientist dreamed of paleontology we find man last in the series just as he appears today by his remains in the drift instead of in the stratified rocks? Further investigation may explain discrepancies, but what except inspiration can account for these coincidences?—The Advance.

Swiss English.

Swiss English always seems designed to round off the scenery with the touch of humor. For years the best in the writer's collection has been an inscription by a path leading to a waterfall near Melringen, which explained that a toll was necessary for "the foundation and underlating" of that path. Until last month, however, there was nothing quite equal to the Strasburg cathedral notice: "Express interdiction to circulate during divine service. Beadle have to preserve order." But Switzerland has at least tied with Germany now in the collection. In a certain Oberland valley, too unspoiled yet to be given away by name, there is a series of gates which bear a short request in Oberland German to the wayfarer to close them. And twice it is translated into English "Shut up!"—London Chronicle.

TO AILING WOMEN

A Little Sound Advice Will Help Many a Sufferer in Charleroi.

No woman can be healthy and well if the kidneys are sick. Poisons that pass off in the secretions when the kidneys are well, are retained in the body when the kidneys are sick. Kidneys and bladder become inflamed and swollen and worse troubles quickly follow. This is often the true cause of bearing down pains, lameness, backache, etc. Uric poisoning also causes headaches, dizzy spells, languor, nervousness and rheumatic pain.

When suffering so, try Doan's Kidney Pills, a remedy that has cured thousands of such cases. You will get better as the kidneys get better and health will return when the kidneys are well. Let a Charleroi woman tell you about Doan's Kidney Pills.

Mrs. H. Rowe, 1005 McKean avenue, Charleroi, Pa., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Piper Bros' Drug Store, have been used in our family for backache and other kidney disorders with the best of results. I consider this remedy to be one that lives up to the claims made for it."

Warm Floors Insure the Children's Health

Cole's Hot Blast Draft on top of the fire burns the coal from the top—burns the gas, which is wasted with all other stoves. The force of this down draft forces the heat to the base which is made of steel—cannot burn out—and heats the floor. Thousands of testimonials have been written regarding the basic heating qualities of

The ideal heating stove is one which radiates all the heat thrown off from the fuel—into the room—instead of letting it go up the chimney.

The durable heater is the one which will withstand any use, year after year, which a heating stove is necessarily subjected to. Sheet steel is the quickest radiator of heat and is used as radiating surface only in Cole's Hot Blast heater. Wherever the fuel comes in contact with the linings—only first quality gray cast iron is used.

Cast iron withstands the wear of the heat from active combustion better than any other material, and the large, sensitive, sheet metal body and base radiate all the heat into the rooms.

Canonsburg Man to Answer Before Justice for Allegations

Edgar W. Gessford a business man of Canonsburg, was arrested Friday on a charge of forgery. He gave $1,000 bail for a preliminary hearing before Justice Gantz at Washington Tuesday.

The charge is preferred by his sister-in-law, Mrs. Caroline Gessford of Washington, who claims she gave her brother-in-law in 1908 a note payable at a bank and that later Gessford raised the figures to $3,000 and endeavored to collect the face of the note at the bank.

POPULAR YOUNG PEOPLE WED THIS WEEK AT DONORA

Miss Lucia Cardon Smith Becomes Bride of Thomas — H. Robinson

LEAVE ON HONEY MOON

The Donora American of Friday gives the following account of the wedding of Miss Lucia C. Smith and Thomas H. Robinson, Jr., which took place at Donora on Wednesday. Miss Smith, who is a niece of Mrs. W. W. Jameson of Fifth street, was formerly a resident of Charleroi, and has a wide circle of friends here who extend good wishes for future happiness. The home of Mrs. Grace Cardon Smith of Donora was the scene of a very pretty wedding ceremony. Wednesday morning, when her daughter Miss Lucia C. Smith and Thomas Holmes Robinson Jr., were married. The Rev. J. Walter Shearer of the Trinity Lutheran church of Donora performed the ceremony, with only the relatives present.

The wedding march—from Lohengrin, was played by Mr. Robert McKay Jamison, a cousin of the bride.

The bride handsomely attired in her brown traveling gown, wore violets and roses, was given away by her uncle Mr. Frank Cardon. Cresson E. Smith a brother of the bride was best man.

The decorations in the living room where the ceremony took place consisted of candelabra ferns, and palms with standards of white chrysanthemums and roses.

Promptly after the ceremony and shower of congratulations a delicious wedding breakfast was served. The table arrangement was beautiful. A large bouquet of rich yellow chrysanthemums surrounded by a wreath of maiden hair fern formed the center piece of the table at which the bride and groom were seated. Covers were laid for eleven. A separate table was occupied by Master Cresson E. Smith Jr. and his little sister Grace, a nephew and a niece of the bride.

A unique feature, while participating in the wedding breakfast, was the receipt of a gorgeous bouquet of American Beauty roses, grown in the great conservatory at the White House, a gift of the groom's cousin from Washington, D. C. Attached to the bouquet was a sheet of sheep skin addressed to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Holmes Robinson Jr. This was the first time the happy bride ever saw her new name in print.

The guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Cresson E. Smith and their two children Cresson E., Jr. and Grace of McKeesport; Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Jamison and son Robert McKay Jamison and Mrs. Sophia DeViney all of Charleroi and Mr. Frank Cardon of Donora.

The bride and groom accompanied by Mr. Frank Cardon, were driven in an automobile to the Lake Erie depot from which point the happy couple left on the 1:00 p. m. train for a three weeks honeymoon, during which time they will visit Pittsburgh, Baltimore, Washington, Richmond and the groom's home in Virginia. At home days in Donora will be after November first.

The groom is one of Donora's most successful druggists and the bride is a favorite among the social set of Donora. Their host of friends extend congratulations and best wishes for a happy matrimonial venture.

Jewish Celebration.

Another Jewish holiday—Children's Day—will begin today at sundown. The ceremony is the Rejoicing of the Law. In commemoration thereof the children will carry scrolls in procession. This ceremony is a part of the Feast of Tabernacles, which began at sundown Friday and lasts one week. The eighth, or added day, of this feast known as the day of prayer, is the same as the Thanksgiving Day in the United States.

Want Market House.

A movement is on foot at Washington to establish a market house. The county seat is in the midst of a rich farming community, and many of the leading citizens believe that if a place is provided for farmers to drive into town and sell their farm products it will not only materially reduce the cost of living but will stimulate other trade and business as well.

Lifting Fire Hose by Elevators.

The latest idea for raising water for fire-extinguishing purposes to the uppermost floors of tall buildings is to lift the hose by means of the passenger or freight elevators. A simple attachment is provided for affixing the hose to the floor of the elevator, the pipe being coiled up in the bottom of the shaft so as to be easily raised.

In a recent demonstration at Memphis, Tenn., says Popular Mechanics, it was said that the water arrived at the sixth floor of a building practically as soon as the floor was reached by the elevator, and the fire chief of that city recommended the compulsory adoption of the device by all buildings provided with elevators. The hose is inserted in the attachment about two sections behind the discharge nozzle, these sections being coiled on the elevator floor.

We Want to See You We'll Treat You Rightly

We know you don't like to be pulled and hauled all over the store, passed through the gauntlet of clerks and finally turned over to the proprietor simply because you don't find what you want, and you don't want some little whippersnapper of a clerk to insist upon your taking what you don't want. You have, doubtlessly been through this ordeal, and vowed that you would never go into that store again. You're right—you don't have to.

Shoes should stand on their merits and a first-class shoe house always has a large enough assortment for a customer to be suited without having something forced on him which he forever dislikes. Come our way. If we cannot possibly suit you we will treat you kindly just the same. One thing certain—if you can't find anything to suit you in our store, you can't find it in Charleroi. And, furthermore, if you don't find that our prices are right, don't spend a cent with us. Fair proposition hey?
